Not meeting, don't worry about it for this semester.

HOW'S THE BOARD?

Old Business

We have a Zoom webinar license for this weekend, and will be showing It's a Wonderful Life Friday and Saturday at 8 pm. Encourage people to watch! If you want to be a co-host for the movie, please contact Reese.

Next weekend is cartoons, on the 11th, 12th and 13th. We should pick out times for that. Advertising it as a study break, an earlier time would be good. An hour two of the days is probably a good idea. Saturday and Sunday.

We'll want to do a lot of our usual advertising for this (Social media, school sponsored places).

Citizen Kane is not actually in the public domain, so we probably can't show it next semester.

HOW'S THE BOARD?

New Business

We have no clue what next semester is going to look like, so filmboard is unsure if zoom webinar meetings will be the norm for next semester. The State order is what's currently in effect and it only lasts until the end of this semester.

Zoom Webinar licenses are between $300-$500 if we wanted to get one. We should talk to IT about it if we wanted to get one. We might want to wait until next semester and talk to other student orgs about it.
